

SPRINGBOARD Architecture
24 Terminal Way
Pittsburgh, PA 15219

“SPRINGBOARD really listens to our needs. Their innovative solutions get to the heart of the subject. They have a unique ability to get us all on the same page.”

Jane Werner
Executive Director
Children's Museum Pittsburgh

SPRINGBOARD

Architecture
Communication
Design

MUSEUMS and CULTURAL FACILITIES

www.springboarddesign.net

The Maridon Museum

SPRINGBOARD's mission is to help its clients 'springboard' their visions. To do this, SPRINGBOARD's designers collaborate with their clients to stimulate, inspire, create and produce new architecture, clear communications, and innovative designs.

SPRINGBOARD Architecture Communication is a multi-disciplinary architectural firm dedicated to the development of museums and cultural facilities such as libraries, community centers and university buildings.

Carnegie Museum of Art Fierce Friends Exhibition

The scale of SPRINGBOARD's projects ranges from large scale development to smaller buildings, interventions, additions, furniture designs, and display systems.

The studios's current work includes museums and exhibitions, libraries and community centers, mixed-use developments, university buildings, restaurants, artists studios and private homes.

Paul Rosenblatt AIA NCARB

Tartans Pavilion at Carnegie Mellon University

Founding Principal Paul Rosenblatt earned his Bachelor's and Master's Degrees from Yale University where he received the Yale School of Architecture's Anne C.K. Garland Award, and edited Perspecta, The Journal of the Yale School of Architecture. Since 1987, Mr. Rosenblatt has taught at the Carnegie Mellon University School of Architecture, where he is currently an Adjunct Associate Professor.

Children's Museum Pittsburgh Waterplay Exhibition

CONTACT US

24 Terminal Way
Pittsburgh, PA 15219
412 390 4040
www.springboarddesign.net